

Miercom Green Certification

“Miercom is pleased to recognize the ProCurve Division of Hewlett Packard for achieving the Certified Green Standard on eight switches in their product line which were recently reviewed.

HP’s innovation is truly commendable in that they have built in sustainable benefits into their products, while at the same time demonstrated responsible environmental practices in production and in their business practices.

The certification is based on a holistic review of the Hewlett Packard ProCurve Division and the switching products produced. Detailed lab testing, qualitative product assessments, and an audit of business and production practices were included in the review.

HP has effectively proven in an innovative product design to offer network switching products with lower energy consumption and that comply with increasingly stringent environmental directives.

Congratulations to the hard working team at Hewlett Packard for achieving Certified Green!”
